

MORARJI DESAI

I was delighted to see this museum which is perhaps unique in the world when it is remembered that it was one individual's collection. All that I had imagined about the extent, variety & magnitude of the collection paled into insignificance when I actually saw it today. The collector of these rare specimens will be remembered for his passion for collecting all kinds of rare specimens & not bothering about its cost as long as the museum will survive.

Morarji Desai
25/12/63